

BullseyeSM report

A data correction service targeted to your needs

When you need to make changes to credit information previously reported to Experian[®], do it quickly and simply with the BullseyeSM report from Experian. This free service is targeted specifically to your need for convenience and cost-effectiveness in your credit operations. The Bullseye report saves you the time and trouble of researching account histories and ordering forms. It replaces the Universal Data Forms process with a fast, efficient method for requesting changes.

How the Bullseye report works

A simple inquiry displays the current status of an account as stored in Experian's database and generates a hard copy on which you can request changes. Your inquiry is displayed on your customer's credit report.

See inside this product sheet for the Bullseye output format and detailed instructions on completing the Bullseye form.

How to complete the Bullseye form

1 Remove all account data

Check this section if you want the account completely removed.
